OK, you guys . . . break it up! This is a non-violent magazine ! Hey, wait a minute . . . we didn't mean break it up like that ! Turn to page 6 and settle the score there.

LETTUCE from our Readers

ADDRESS ALL LETTERS TO CRACKED LETTUCE, 239 PARK AVENUE SOUTH SUITE 5D, NEW YORK, N.Y. 10003

Dear CRACKED,
How come your proof reader never spells his own title right?

Art Abelson
Syracuse, Kansas

Dear Art,
It is spelled right. He's a prprf Rdrr, not a Proof Reader. Geesh!

Dear CRACKED,
What happened to Nanny Dickering in CRACKED INTERVIEWS STAR WARTS CREATOR GEORGE LUCRE? Was she on vacation?

Cally Witte
Arlington, Mass.

Dear Cally,
She was on assignment talking with the UFO KING.

Dear CRACKED,
Those heads that Sylvester was knocking off on the WAR GAINS cover looked awfully familiar. Was that ...

Terri Decker
Moab, Utah

Dear Terri,
Yup. Ricardo Montalban himself!

Dear CRACKED,
Point of information. I know what the publisher and editor contribute to your magazine, but what does your contributing editor contribute?

Rick Browne
Benton Harbor, Mich.

Dear Rick,
We believe it's about $1 a month to the AMERICAN DISABLED TRACTOR TRAILER FUND.

Dear CRACKED,
I am beginen to lern now Englis. I lern from reeden CRACKED. Wy yuu made it funy altha time. How I lern yuu allus made it funy? Yuu tink ll eazy lern Englis wen yuu gota laft altha time. Make mor serous so I no laft to mush.

Karim Mushaba
Istanbul, Turkey

Dear Karim,
We suggest that you read that other magazine with the stupid looking big eared mascot. You wooden hafta laft!

Dear CRACKED,
WHEN ALL OF TV GOES 3-D had me rolling on the floor.

Jerry Isnardi
Randolph, Maine

Dear Jerry,
Now if you could just learn to sit up and beg too, maybe your parents would keep you.

Dear CRACKED,
You knows, dat title of yours in da last issue YOU KNOWS IT'S GONNA BE ONE OF DEM DAYS was not really good English. Are you guys tryin' to ruin my brain with bad influences?

Peter Kaplan
Detroit, Mich.

Dear Peter,
We apologize and hereby correct the title. It should have been YOU KNOW IT'S GONNA BE ONE OF DEM DERE DAYS. Sorry.

Dear CRACKED,
WAR GAINS was not only funny, but also served to illustrate three very important points: A) That safety features of computers must be improved. B) That the Pentagon bears close watching and C) That there would be no winners at all in a nuclear war. Thank you for bringing out these important issues.

Steven Hanover
Kurtistown, Hawaii

Dear Steven,
We did all that? Gosh! We're impressed.

Dear CRACKED,
Loved the cover for #200. It really illustrates how you've been nuking your competition for many years. You're always first to do the hot movies and you're just out to make us laugh instead of depress us. CRACKED is the best magazine in the whole world!

Mary Ozimok
Atlanta, GA

Dear Aunt Mary,
Thanks a lot and give my best to Uncle Fred.

Dear CRACKED,
I liked your satire on THE A TEAM TAKES A RIDE ON THE LOVE BOAT a few issues back, but what I'd really like to see now is a satire on THE A-TEAM all by itself. Think this could be arranged?

Bob Krafft
Dallas, Texas

Dear Bob,
Well, these things usually take time and a lot of planning. They have to be written, then illustrated, then printed and then delivered to newsstands. However, if you give us say, the time it takes for you to turn to the next page, we think we can fill your request.

Ten years ago, a CRACKED commando unit in S.E. Asia was sent to jail for a crime they didn't commit. Knowing they'd never get a fair trial, they risked the impossible to undertake another impossible task—crush NBC's competition and get that network out of third place. Their methods of operation were a little unorthodox (sometimes even a teensy bit violent), but it didn't take long before the 4 men and 1 woman managed to turn their series into the smash hit Tuesday night show known as

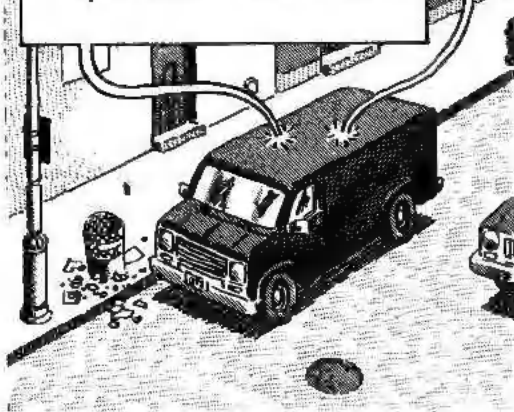

THE A-A-YYY TEAM

So, will you do it?

I don't know. After all, the cops are looking for us.

True, but I think I know the real reason you're hesitant. You realize this assignment could involve danger and lots of bullets, plus out-of-control car chases, loud explosions, ultra-violence . . .

You mean it?!! In that case, we'll take it!

O.K. guys. The first thing we gotta do is sneak into police headquarters and put a bug on each of the corrupt cops' uniforms. You ready to do that Spaced?

Ready!

Not that kind of bug! The small little microphone kind.

Oh! Right! I must be hanging around Mudlark too much.

Are you Sergeant O'Hobo?

Yeah.

Well, we're the interior decorators you hired to redo all the lockers in this precinct.

I never ordered any interior decorators.

I know you didn't but headquarters did. They said it's been a few years since they last redid your lockers.

They've never redone them.

See how long it's been?

Unfortunately, due to budget restraints, the city couldn't afford to spring for the plaid pattern you ordered. However, they did agree to let you have this surplus Annie Wallpaper.

Grown cops with Annie plastered all over their lockers?

CRACKED is taking the bus home, then vainly trying to get it into your living room.

Look. Either you take our Annie offer now or who knows the next time we'll be back. It could be a year, a month or even . . .

Tomorrow!
Tomorrow!

O.K. O.K. Do it. Only don't sing. And please be gone before the men get here.

We've got to hurry.

I'll just sew each of these mikes onto their uniforms like so. Think they'll notice them?

Never!

SEW SEW SEW
SEW SEW SEW
SEW SEW SEW
SEW SEW SEW

Good work. Now we just sit here and wait until we pick something up. Wait! Here it comes!

So what do you wanna do this afternoon?

Let's pick on that boomerang shop at 5th and Avacado. I hear business has been coming back.

Great. That's a good time to hit them for protection money.

CRACKED is trying to mug somebody on the street with an electric razor.

O.K. B.O. We gotta get over to that boomerang shop before they do. Make this van fly.

No way.

Why not?

You know I hate to fly.

KAFF!
KAFF!

What I meant was to drive us over there in a typical A-a-yy Team fashion.

Oh. You mean fast and wrackless . . .

With plenty of near misses . . .

WOW!!
SKREEEE!

SKREEE!

Ma'am, a few ceps are on their way over to demand protection money from you. They're corrupt and we'd like to set a trap to save you from shelling out any money.

Oh bless you.

No need for that. I didn't sneeze.

Cannibal. Here they come. Everyone hide.

Hello, ma'am. I'm Officer Steve and this is Officer Tim and, well, if you want anymore police protection, you're gonna have to start paying for it.

Yeah. $13 a week.

You're safe now, ma'am. And there's no need to thank us.

THANK YOU?! Those crooked ceps only wanted $13 a week. Thanks to your protection I'm gonna be paying $500 a week for the rest of my life just to put this place back together.

Well, I think those cops know we mean business. Now to contact them and tell them what we really want.

Resign!? Are you nuts! I don't know how you found out what we were up to but . . .

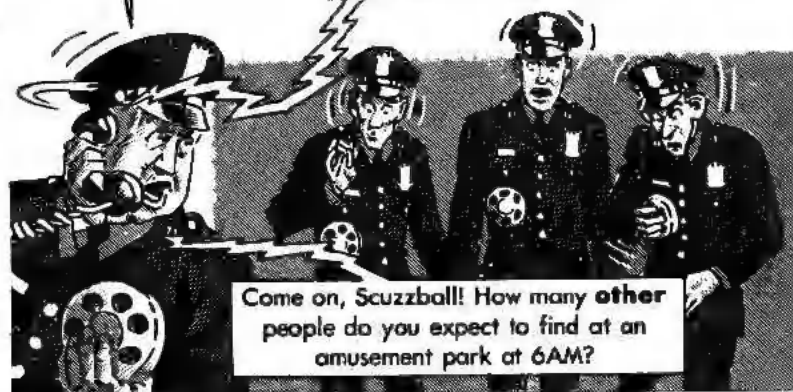

A little buggy told us.

What? Guys! Our uniforms are miked. . . O.K. So you're clever. Let's meet.

Tomorrow. 6AM at the Run and Torture Amusement Park.

How will we know who you are?

Come on, Scuzzball! How many other people do you expect to find at an amusement park at 6AM?

Well, the meeting's set and I think it's gonna be rough.

In that case, I'd better stop off at my mama's house for an extra gun. Now, I could just walk over there, knock on the door and walk in like any normal person.

Or?

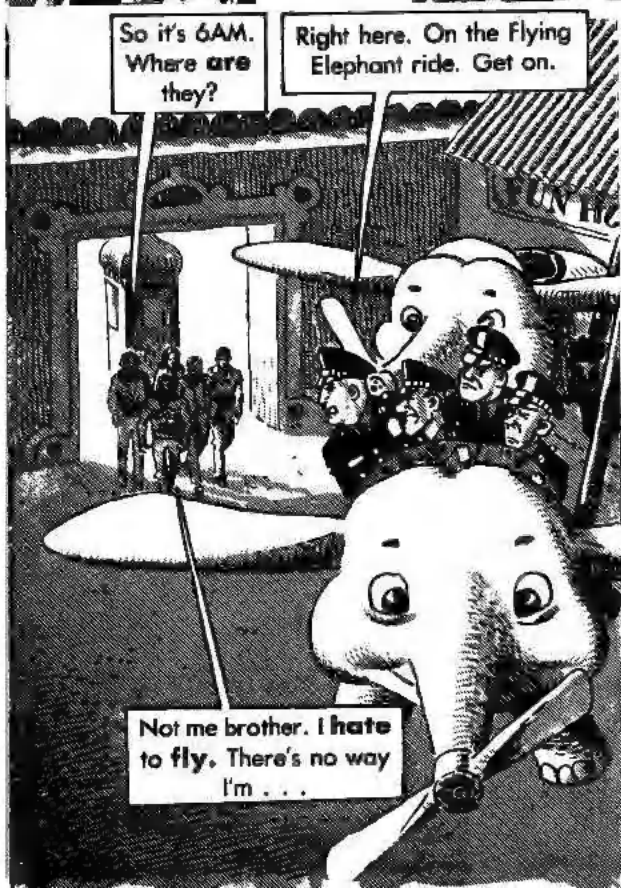

Or I could arrive The A-a-ay Team way.

That you son?

So it's 6AM. Where are they?

Right here. On the Flying Elephant ride. Get on.

Not me brother. I hate to fly. There's no way I'm . . .

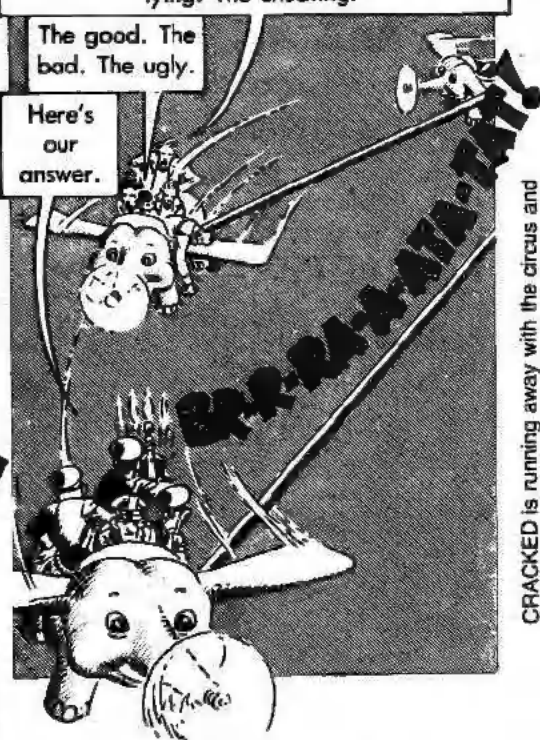

He's coming. He just needed a little enticement.

So, you gonna resign? We know all the things you've done. The graft. The corruption. The lying. The cheating.

The good. The bad. The ugly.

Here's our answer.

CRACKED is running away with the circus and having the police make you bring it back.

I take that as a no.

Cannibal!!! They hit our right engine! I don't think I can land this elephant! We're gonna crash!
HANG ON!

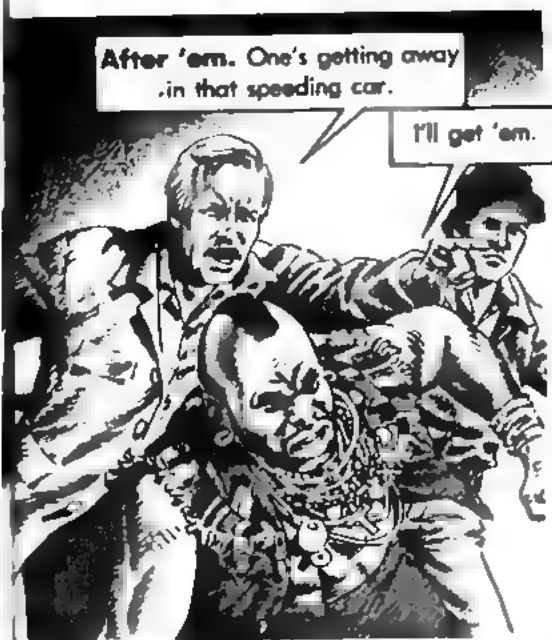

O.K. They didn't want to listen to reason, so we'll try a different, but more direct approach.

Like what?

We'll kill 'em.

CRACKED in putting popcorn in the pancake mix so they can turn over by themselves.

After 'em. One's getting away in that speeding car.

I'll get 'em.

FLOOP

There's another trying to escape through the fun house.

Leave that one to me.

Booga Booga!

AHHHH!

CRACKED is becoming so real that you put a newspaper under the cuckoo clock.

Now that we've got you all together, we're gonna ask you one more time. Are you guys gonna march into your Captain's office tomorrow and resign? Or...

Or what? Is Mr. T there gonna give us a love hug?

That's B.O.! Not Mr. T!

CRRR!

What's the difference? The way you act, all you characters are exactly the same.

KRUNCH!

I think that was the wrong thing to say.

We give up—we'll all resign.

Well you did it. I don't know how to express my thanks.

Skip the thanks and just flash the cash for our bill.

Oh sure. And you know, I also learned something else today.

Really? What's that?

We're gonna scare all the criminals out of town by dressing all of our officers like you!

KAFF! KAFF! KAFF!

KAFF! KAFF! KAFF!

KAFF! KAFF!

TH'END

They're doing it in N.J. and Arizona. They're doing it in California and Washington. Over four million people below the age of 16 are involved in the sport and yet some Americans don't even know what BMX is. Well, before you have to admit to not knowing what those 3 letters stand for, sit back and bone up on the details quick, as we now present

THE CRACKED GUIDE TO BICYCLE MOTO- CROSS

BMX is short for Bicycle Motocross. It's a challenging sport that over 4 million young people are taking part in (but then you already knew that if you read the introduction). Some of these people just own the bikes while others actually race them at one of the more than 600 tracks in the nation.

This is the basic BMX bike. Nice!

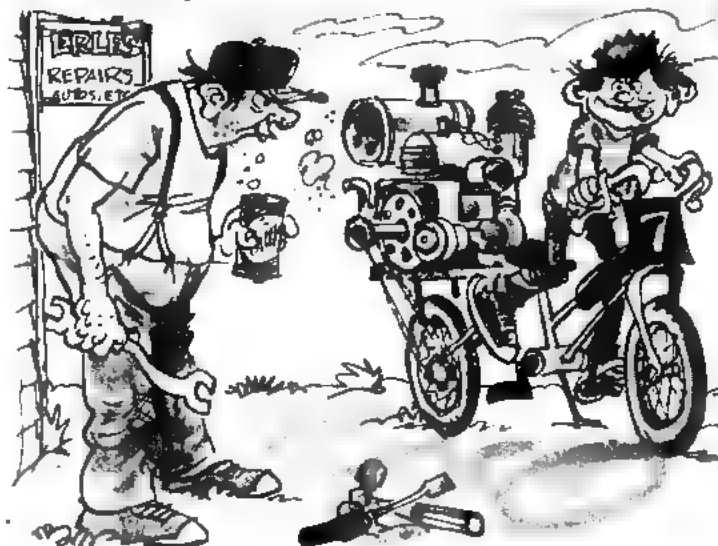

CRACKED is showing you with a rifle

However, kids who race often strip them down to get them to go faster.

There are also kids who try to get them to go faster in another way.

They are known as cheaters.

Besides the bike, there are a few other things that a BMX racer should have.

First, there's the basic racing suit.

This one is strictly for formal races.

Then you need a helmet. If you can't afford a $75 fiberglass one

... A homemade one will do.

You'll also need something to protect your eyes.

Good, but this does add another 60 pounds to your bike.

Instead, we suggest wearing the new combination helmet/goggles now starting to come out.

It's also available with matching pants.

Gloves are another good thing to wear.

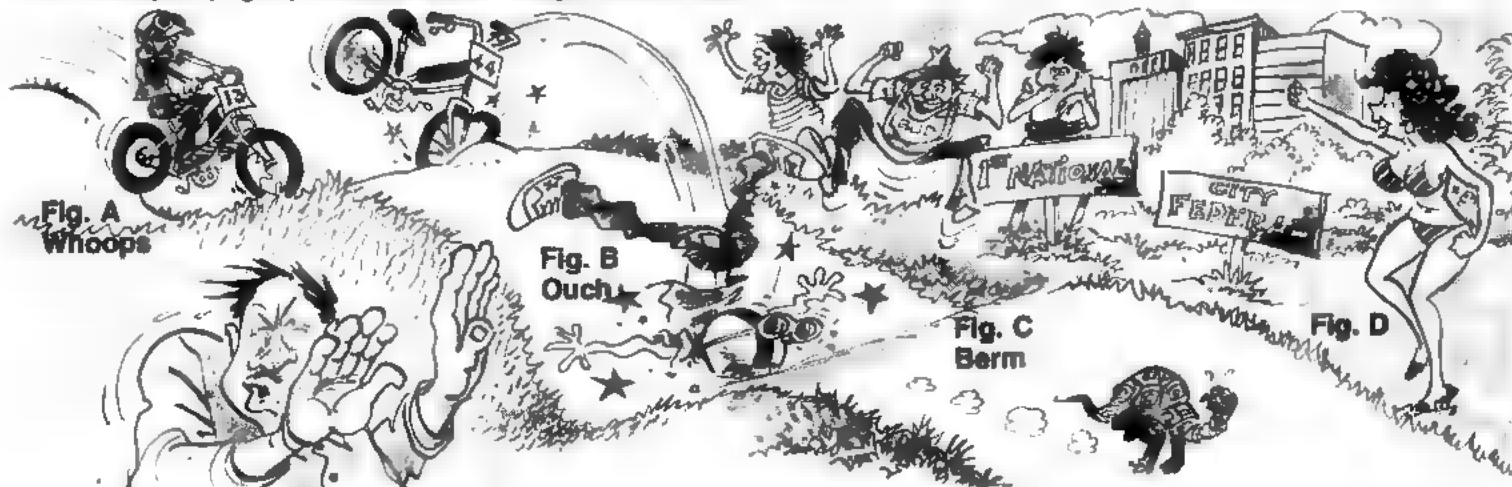

Though you might have problems mitt these.

And lastly you'll need foot wear. Any type of shoe is fine.

Make that almost any type.

Now let's take a look at a typical BMX track. You'll notice that there are several important parts. There are the "whoops" (Fig. A) which are the bumps on the track.

They are called "whoops" because ■ you land slightly off, this ■ what you might holler. And if you land completely wrong, you go (Fig. B). Next there are the "berms" (Fig. C). These are "banked curves" as you'll notice from the picture above. And lastly, there ■ Figure D. These are known as inspirations.

On an average day there are usually 50 races at a track. They are divided into several levels of skill. There's the "Beginner Level."

THE INTERMEDIATE LEVEL

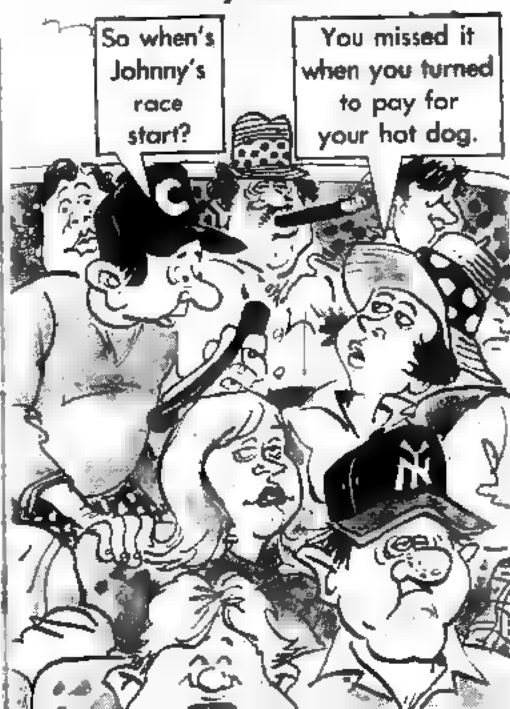

And the "Pro" or "Expert Level"

The races themselves are fairly short ...

... and there's a small entry fee, often negotiable, since many "cash-poor" kids are participating.

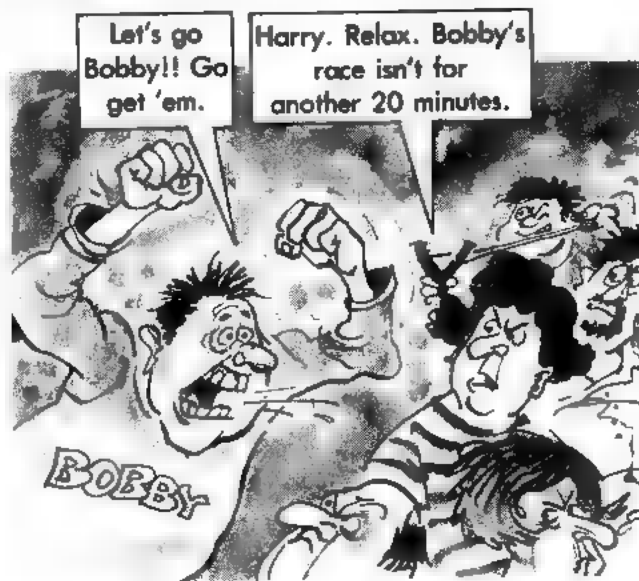

Each race is started with the sound of a gun.

The racers then break out of the starting gate.

During the race a little dust is sometimes kicked up.

And since it's mostly parents watching, enthusiasm can run high.

Can anyone race? Well, we suppose that a 95-year-old man with a broken leg might be at a disadvantage, but other than that, sure, anyone can—that is if you train.

You should first start by learning to jump small objects...

... building up to bigger things.

But remember, safety first. Practice only in areas where there are no cars or pedestrians.

Good going. You made it clear over that grape.

And it's around the coffee table into the stretch!

Not your living room! We meant in a vacant lot or desert.

And since we're on safety; never drink paint.

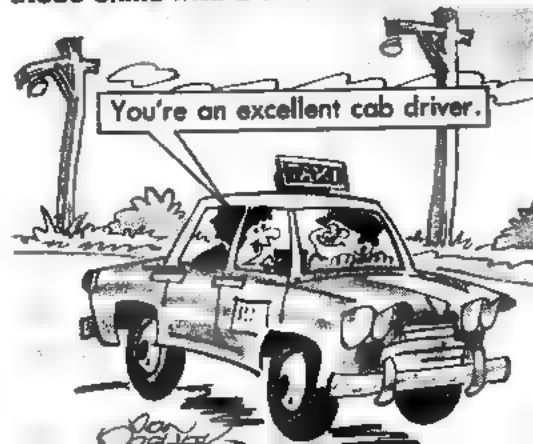

And we should also mention that you're never too young to start.

And who knows. If you're good at BMX, you might one day turn those skills into a whole career.

I thought it was a vanilla milk shake.

It's got nothing to do with BMX, but it is a good safety tip.

No, not THIS kind of hold-up!

CRACKED HOLD-UPS!

A CRACKED LOOK AT HOME COMPUTERS

FOUR THINGS A TEENAGER CAN USE A HOME COMPUTER FOR

- (1) To keep track of the boys/girls you're going out with.
- (2) To catalog the excuses you've given to teachers as to why you don't have your homework.
- (3) To remind yourself when your favorite TV shows are on.
- (4) As a paperweight when you can't figure out how the darn thing works.

GLOSSARY

PERSONAL HOME COMPUTER—A small keyboard operated machine used for very important things like family budgets, checking accounts and playing Zaxxon.

MEMORY—The inner workings of the machine. (Also, what your mother has when you ask if you can stay up late just once this week and she tells you "But you already did.")

FLOPPY DISC—What happens to your Men At Work album when you leave it lying in the sun too long.

K—Short for memory. If the computer has an extraordinary memory (especially for breakfast cereals) it's said to have "Special K."

STORE—What you do when you place information into the computer—also, where you return it when you can't figure out what the heck the machine is good for.

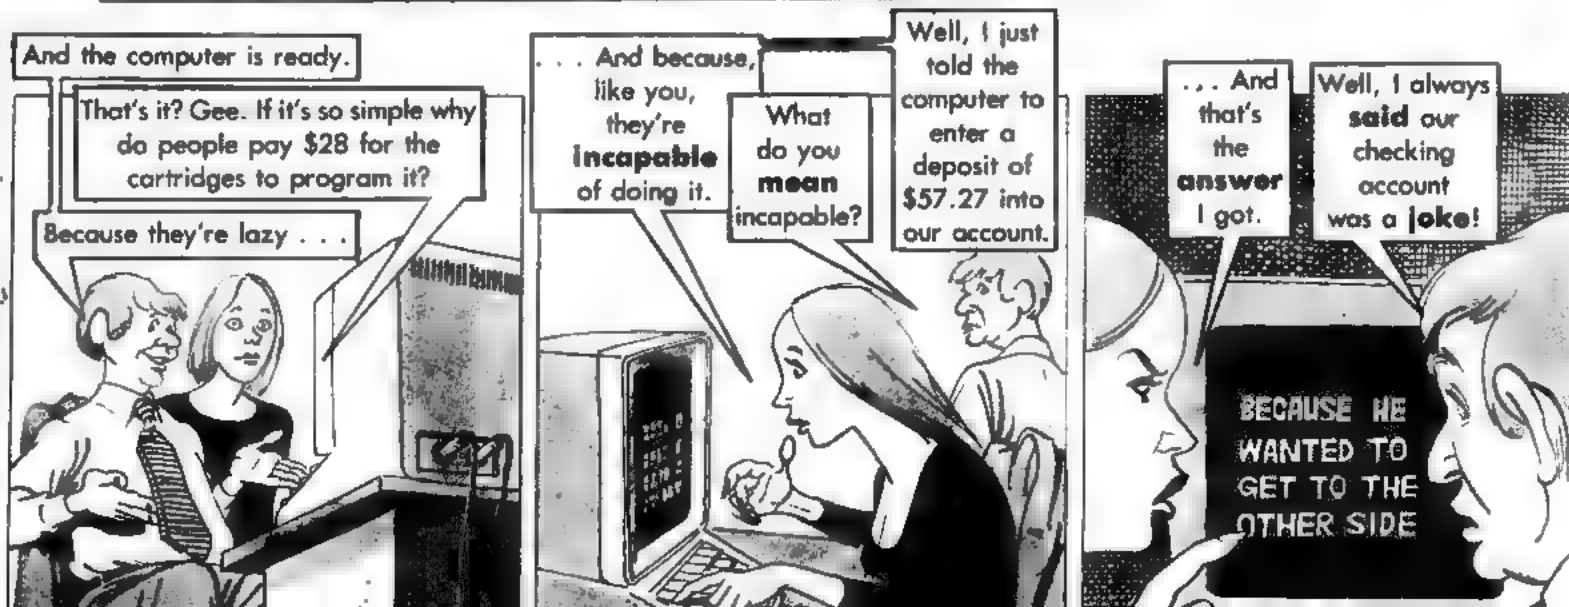

HARDWARE—When combined with the term above, it's a great place to find hammers, nails and roach traps.

SOFTWARE—Same as above only it's been treated with a fabric softener.

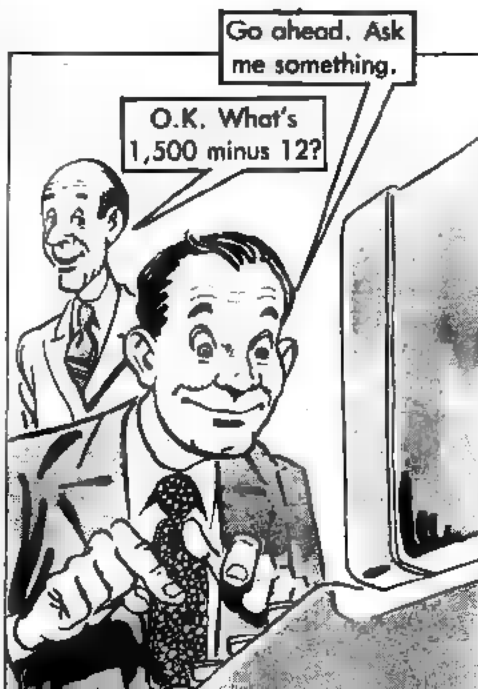

UNDERWEAR—You don't know? No wonder you can't dress yourself in the morning!

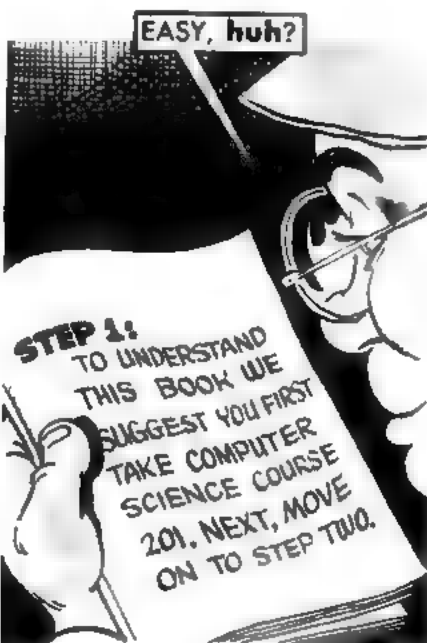

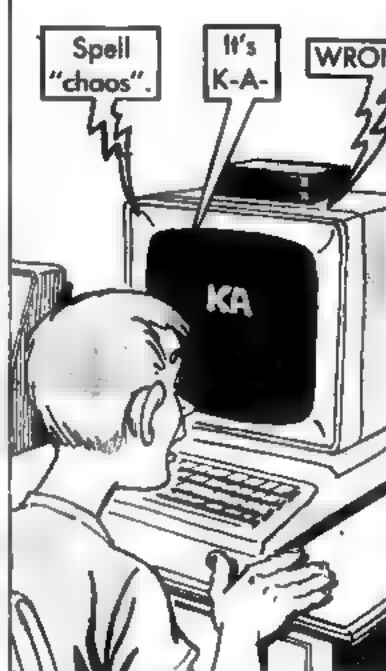

DISC DRIVE—What you and your friends go on to find the hit records you want.

By now everyone is familiar with that long-running comedy hit on ABC about a guy and his two female roommates. However, since we did the show last, a lot of things have changed. In addition, we've also received thousands of letters asking us to do it again. So, when you add it it up, we guess it's time we took another look at the series that those with bad diction in Brooklyn, N.Y. and other parts of the country call

TREE'S COMPANY

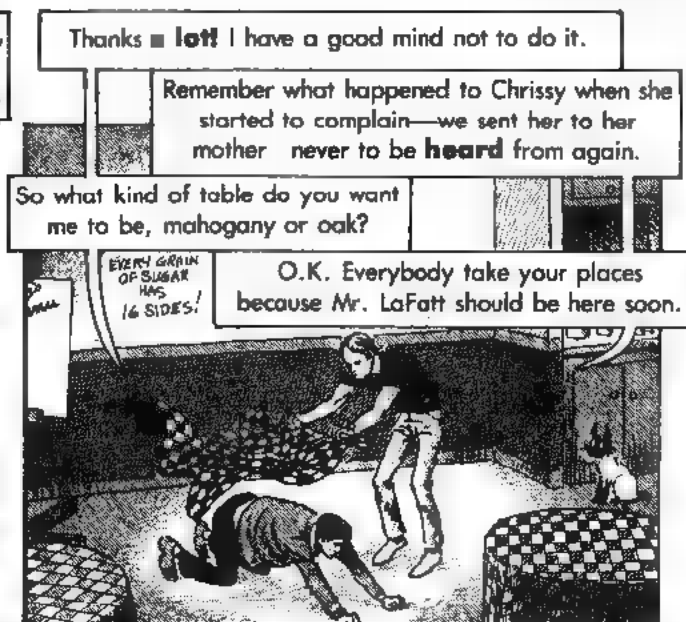

And what about me Jerk?

Well, Lear, I'm short a table and would appreciate it if you got down on all fours and became one.

A table! Why, any no talent can be a table.

That's why I thought of you.

OOOF!

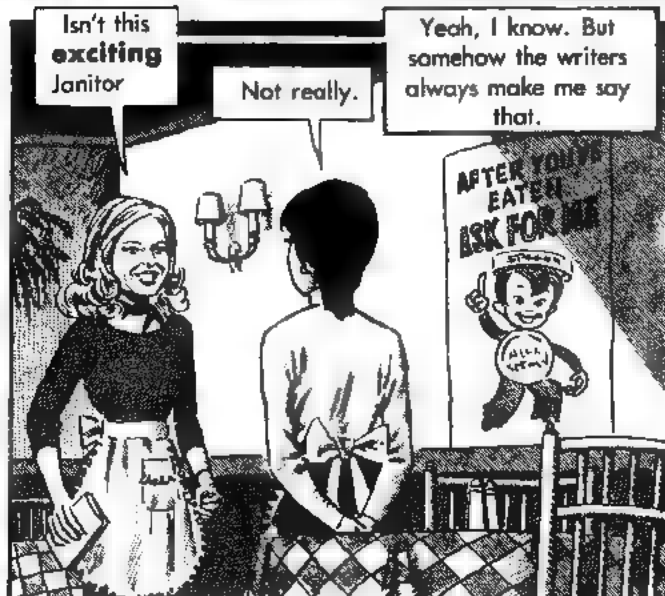

Thanks a lot! I have a good mind not to do it.

Remember what happened to Chrissy when she started to complain—we sent her to her mother never to be heard from again.

So what kind of table do you want me to be, mahogany or oak?

EVERY GRAIN OF SUGAR HAS 16 SIDES!

O.K. Everybody take your places because Mr. LaFatt should be here soon.

Isn't this exciting Janitor

Not really.

Yeah, I know. But somehow the writers always make me say that.

Look! Over there! That could be him.

In overalls?

Food critics always wear disguises. What should I do?

I'm not sure, but there's one guaranteed way of finding out.

"As man walks into restaurant Terry walks over and says hello."

That's perfect.

Hello.

I believe Jerk Tripping is expecting me.

Why yes. Let me just check and see if we have a table for you.

Excellent. Mr. Surly and I will get it ready at once . . .
Mr. Surly? . . . Mr. Surly!
Would you stop playing with the food!

you anything to drink?

Sure.

Yes. I'd like

KAFF!

BASH!
BASH!
BASH!
BASH!

Wait! You can't use that fork!

Ah, would you like me to check those along with your coat?

Give me them!

Young lady. What is going on?

I'm sorry, but as I was coming out of the kitchen I noticed a spot on that fork and I just couldn't let you use it. I'm just going to have to take the whole appetizer way.

Because of a dirty fork? I'll just use this spoon.

Wait!! Look at that! I think it's an African Goblutz walking up there on the ceiling.

Where?

Up there.

AN ASTRONAUT IS A MAN WHO'S GOING SPACES!

Oh gee. My mistake. It's just a plain old cockroach. Never mind. Enjoy your dinner.

COCKROACH!!!!

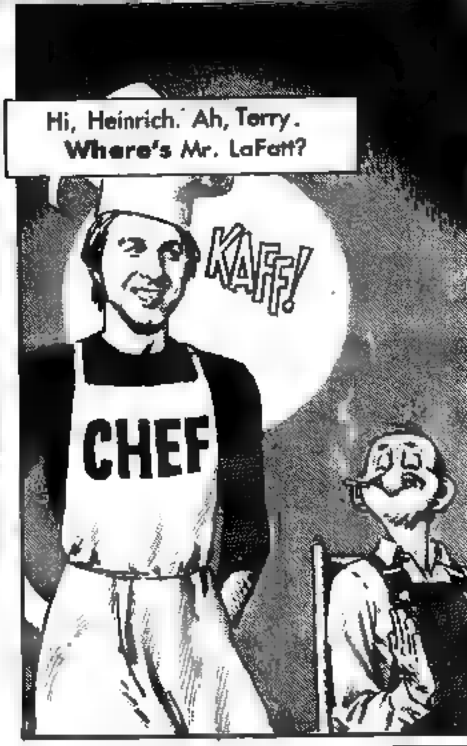

Well, Jerk. That's it. Mr. LaFatt has had his last course. There's nothing we can do now.

Do you think I should go out there? I mean, just in case he has any questions.

Why not. Only don't make it too obvious who you are.

I won't.

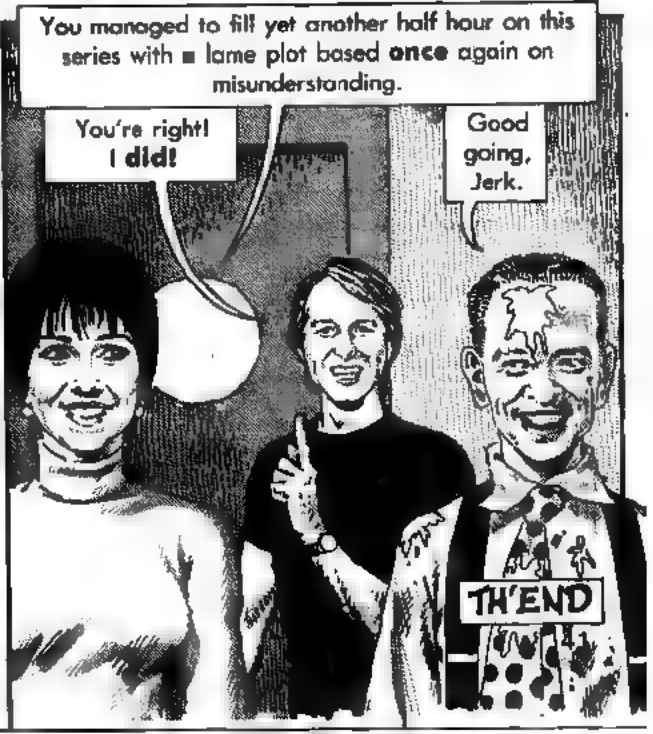

CRACKED ■ letting your cold develop into pneumonia because that they can cure.

Right. Heinrich Hunklemeyer, the plumber. And normally, I can't stand waiting to fix someone's sink, but since you served me that fantastic free meal, I won't even put the waiting time on your bill. Now where's the sink?

I can't believe this. I've been slaving inside for two hours to feed ■ plumber.

But look at it this way. He did give you a rave review. I'm sure that from now on any plumber who comes in here to fix something will probably eat first!

Greetings, America! This is ace reporter Nanny Dickering again and I'm at Pepe's Puppy Palace visiting with none other than Mr. Gains Berger, the owner of the largest chain of pet stores in the nation. And why am I here? Well its' obviously because this month

CRACKED INTERVIEWS

THE PET STORE KING

PEPE'S PUPPY PALACE

Mr. Berger, the first question I should ask is why call your establishment Pepe's Puppy Palace?

Because if I named it after myself and called it Pepe's Burger Palace, everyone would think that I was a fast-food chain!

DOBERMAN
PINSCHER

BOXER

CHOW

BULLDOG

Not exactly handsome is he?

No, but WOW can HE KISS!

Are all your puppies guaranteed?

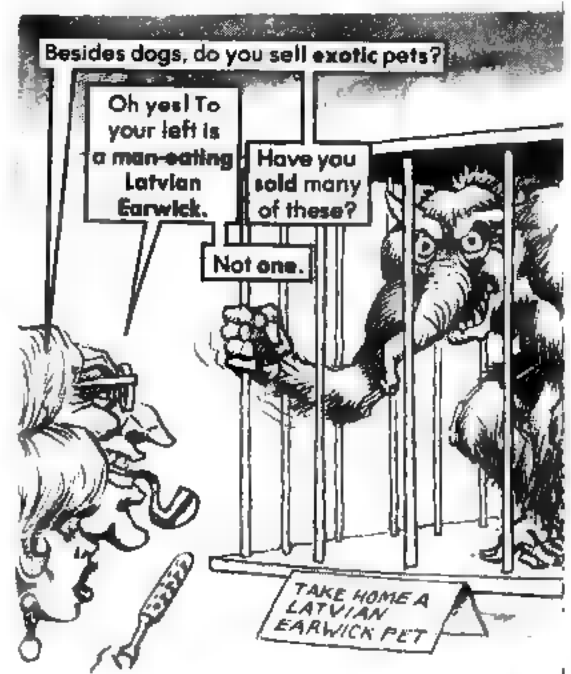

Oh yes — each puppy is guaranteed to grow into a dog — or your money back!

What about their health. Is each in A-1 shape?

Quite frankly, Nanny, NO! But they do look great, don't they?

Yes, they How is it achieve

... but Mrs. Poindexter, a baby elephant is so much more practical than a hamster. Think of all the extra trunk space you'll have.

But how will he fit into this cage I already bought?

Simple! Just put him on a low-fat peanut diet and shove!

Hello pretty thing. Care to discuss Newton's 8th law?

That parrot has an amazing vocabulary.

I JUST LOVE CHERRY LIPSTICK. I JUST LOVE TUMS. I JUST LOVE...

He should. That's a $1200 tape recorder I had implanted in his chest!

That's so dishonest! And while we're on the subject, how do you handle it when a person is dissatisfied with a pet's purchase?

Our Mr. Smithers there travels about taking care of the problems.

Mr. Smithers, this turtle I bought is dead!

No he isn't—he's just shy.

But he hasn't come out of his shell in over 3 years.

I told you he was shy!

Another service of ours is our pet psychiatrist.

You're kidding!

DOBBIE
PSYCHIATRIST

Ma'am, I can't tell you what's wrong with Pierre unless he decides to speak to me.

Oh come now, Pierre and tell the nice doctor what you told mommy.

You know, after observing this, I can't make up my mind.

About what?

About who's crazier—the dogs or the owners!!

Well, while you're deciding that, let me show you my newest innovation — pet insurance! Should the time come for your furry little friend to move on to greener pastures, his life insurance is passed along to one of the children.

You mean his master's son or daughter can collect the insurance?

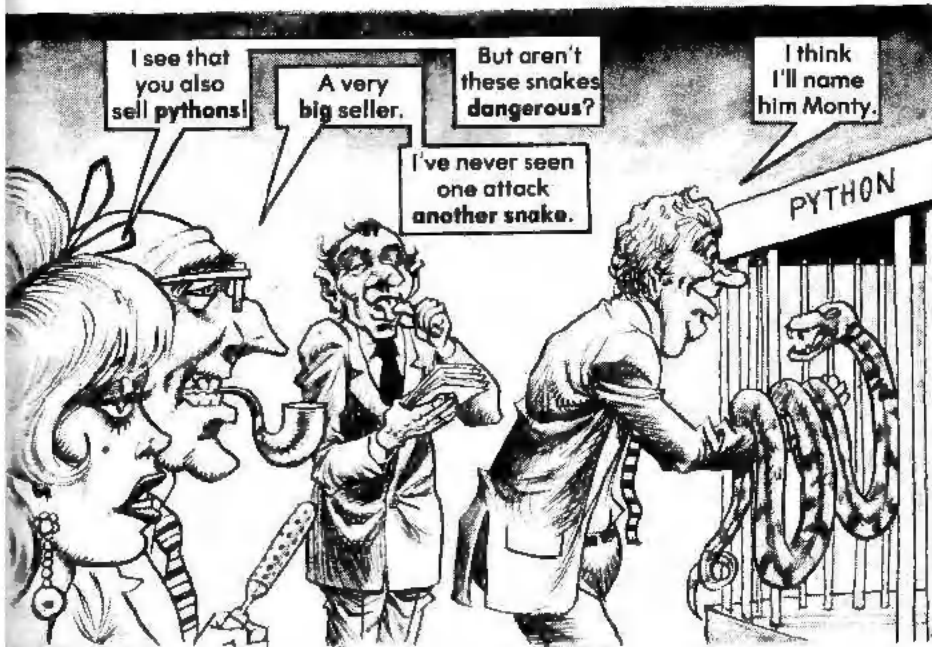

No, one of the animal's children can!

But animals can't spend money!

I know! That's the beauty of pet insurance. You're always collecting premiums without ever having to pay off!

CHARACTER DESIGN BY BOB FOSTER FOR BOB FOSTER ARTISTS

I see that you also sell pythons!

A very big seller.

But aren't these snakes dangerous?

I've never seen one attack another snake.

I think I'll name him Monty.

PYTHON

Ahhh! Gurgles! Gasps!

That man was just severely injured by your python. What are you going to do about it, Mr. Berger?

Think I should give him his money back?

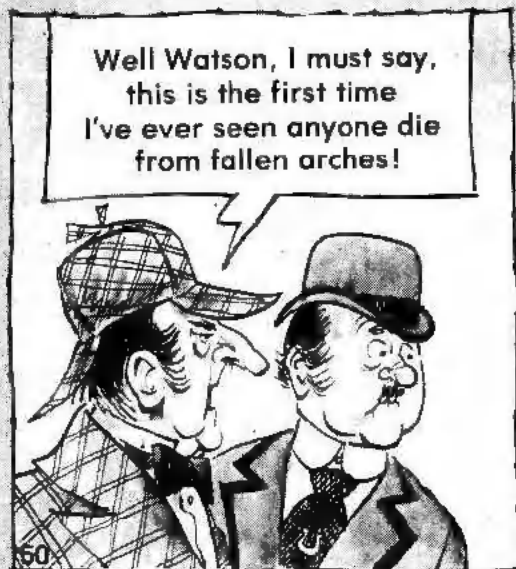

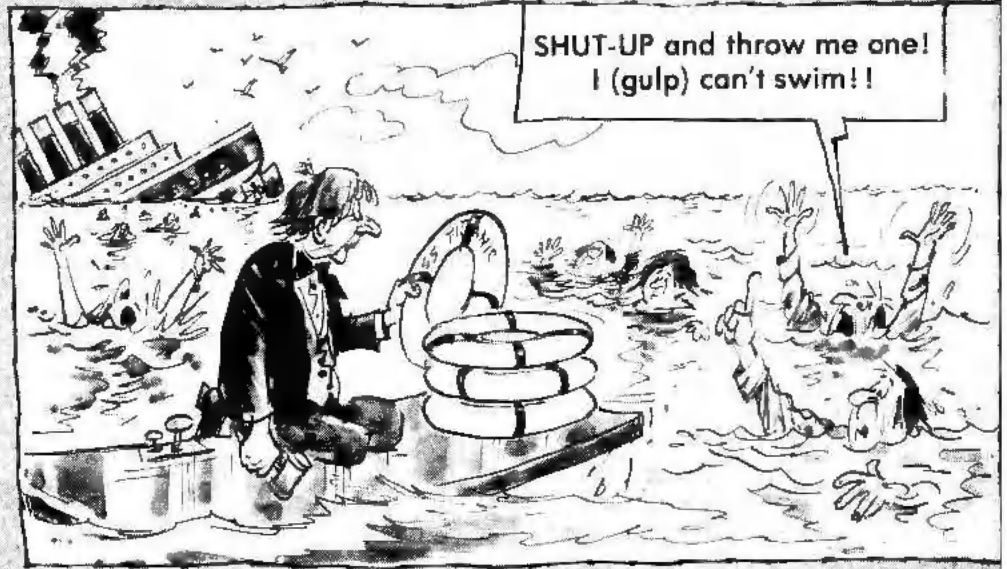

And this is a disgusted Nanny Dicking signing off until next month!

You're right! I'll give him his money back — but only if he still has his receipt!

Can we move on to the Shut-Ups please ...
